BEACH RESIDENTS STRIKE OUT! Bussin Gets $3,000: DEVELOPER Gets a Permit

Councillor Sandra Bussin- 2006 Campaign
List of contributors from each single contributor totaling more than $100
Marie Mazur	11	Chesley Rd	11M 100
Lynne Alford	12	Chesley Rd	12M 100
Pam Alford	13	Chesley Rd	13M 100
America's Mechanics	10	Chesley Rd	10M 100

The ball first got rolling in Councillor Sandra Bussin's (Beaches East York) 2006 Election Campaign. Since election laws prohibit donations over $750.00 from any one citizen or company. She simply received multiple family donations from the developers relatives. Totalling $3,000.00 This is legal by the way, but no matter how you slice it or dice it, You have to wonder why donators do this ?

Numbers 14 and 16 Wineva ave. have been demolished. So that Three-3- Storey Luxury Homes each 2000 sq.ft. can be constructed. The newly created Toronto Beach East Residents Association (T-BERA) Were assured by Councillor Bussin that she would fight the good fight against the (EVIL DEVELOPERS) ! Little did they know that the fix was in. She was on the developers team all along. Your not surprised are you? It Should be obvious when a corporatoion or developer wants a favour from a city councillor in some cases all it takes is a little creativity in the donation dept. The decision that the Ontario Municipal Board (O.M.B.) made was a forgone conclusion. We are wondering if OMB really stands for ONLY MONEY BUYS! The Toronto Beach East Residents Association Gave 110% in trying to protect the Beaches Special character. They gained a lot of fans among Beachers and there efforts are deeply appreciated by us. Meanwhile back at the clubhouse, Councillor Sandra Bussin and her big league CRONY Builders were celebrating there victory. And why not? Beach residents had been thoroughly trounced. Sandra played dirty Beach residents played clean. Our mistake, the next time Sandra Bussin tries to fool Beach Residents, will be ready with our big hitters for the rematch. Like the man said. It aint over till its over.

By John Anderson Staff Investigative Reporter

The game was lost before the opening pitch, but that's nothing new for local "HARD BALL" Politition Councillor Sandra Bussin. City Councillor Bussin's constituents in Ward 32 thought they were playing on a level playing field. But developers had the game in the bag from the beginning.

BIG ON BLOOR Canada's longest street festival

New Products:

Dougal Bichan
Big On Bloor 08

Your neighbours at Bloorcourt and Bloordale Villages invite you to enjoy Canada's second annual longest street festival, "BIG on Bloor," which will take place on Canada's longest day, June 20th, from 1:00 p.m. till 9:00 p.m.

In 2008, 100,000 people strolled along 2 1/2 km of Bloor Street West, participating in creative arts events, sampling fabulous food and eclectic cuisines, and turning Bloor from a busy thoroughfare into our urban village.

Bloor Street West will be closed from Christie Pits Park in the east to Lansdowne Avenue in the west to create Toronto's longest pedestrian-friendly car-free zone and outdoor festival.

Come join and revel in more than 500 participating groups featuring arts displays, food, craft and vendor tables, three performing arts stages, (the Indy Stage, Multi-cultural, Stage, Popular Stage), children's play areas, buskers, dance companies, free bike repairs and workshops, green technology displays, local merchants and restaurants and much, much more.

Visit the "Arts Cage" in the tennis courts at Dufferin and Bloor to see and purchase works from some of Canada's leading visual artists. Take part in the " Art Cage Match", and express your opinion.

CULTURE WORKS - this feature event of the BIG on Bloor street Festival, between Dufferin and Lansdowne Ave, brings together major cultural institutions in Toronto and celebrated local cultural organizations to offer unique and interactive programming for young and old.

The KIDZONE - Let your children enjoy the summer in the city between Crawford and Montrose on Bloor.

After the critically acclaimed success of the "Big Festival" in 2008 we are proud to invite you and your family to come spend the day, meet some new friends and neighbours, and listen to an eclectic array of musicians that make up our local music scene. Or just enjoy the walk and start your summer in the city by being "Big on Bloor".

The Festival is one of the highlights of the Bloor Improvement Group (BIG), a community action project to mobilize local participation by initiating creative strategies for community development. BIG is made up community groups, resident associations, BIAs, cultural producers, creative activists, social service agencies, community organizations, and local store owners and residents.

Health: Parenting: The Folly of Fault Finding

If children are raised from an authoritarian perspective, then finding fault with children's behaviour goes right along with parental reward and punishment. Usually this approach comes from automatic assumptions about how to raise children. Rooted in society's norms and in one's own familiar past, these are assumed to be the only and best way to make sure that children fly right.

Reward and punishment parenting is based on the child being right or wrong and the parent knowing the difference. The trouble with this approach is that the child is oriented toward the reward and punishment, not the issue at hand. This makes for less emotional intelligence. For example, do we want the child to be afraid of getting hit by a car or afraid of the parent's wrath should he run out between parked cars? Do we want the child to understand that it's really mean to hit the other kid on the head with a truck, because it hurts and shocks the other child or do we just want blind obedience?

The previous two examples fall into the two main categories of parental intervention: reality (danger of cars) and relationship (you make better friends by playing nicely). The parent always has a teaching concept for their intervention as long as they are not being mindlessly rule-based or self-centered in their reasons for wanting a certain behaviour from a child.

The parent-child relationship is the most powerful tool in raising a responsible child yet in the mind of the authoritarian parent, that idea could only mean an indulged, selfish child with no behavioural standards. Parents asked to step back from authoritarian methods become mystified as to how they'll succeed in raising the child properly.

There is no perfect parent in the face of the endless challenges that present themselves. It will be when the parent is most stressed and helpless that the temptation will be there to say, "Because I said so"

Conscientious parents feel responsible to teach their children decent behaviour and accountability. Good parents want to raise considerate children who do their homework and don't get into serious trouble.

The beauty of coming out of automatic reactions to the challenges of child rearing is the beauty of authentic relationship. The child learns how relationship is co-created. His self-esteem is enhanced as he learns about his world and how he can influence others for the better. She feels safe because the parent is approachable and a trusted source of cooperative problem solving. Power struggles are minimized. Bonding is maximized!

The most dependable safeguard a parent can provide to their child is meaningful, positive connection. Mindfully aware relationship lays the foundation for a purposeful and positive future.

MUSIC: Three Quarter Stone

Refined garage rock; the energy and balls of AC/DC, crisp and present vocals of Mick Jagger, with todays big pop/rock production and socially relevant themes.

Guelph is a quaint university town, whose downtown core has stereotypically been known as an 'artsy' community; but if you're expecting that Guelph's 'Three Quarter Stone' is another band of generationally lost hippies that can be found discussing the importance of granola in the vegetarian diet at Hillside Festival then you are in for a surprise. This five piece band is electrified adrenaline on stage. Pure unadulterated, triple xxx rock 'n roll!

Picture a free spirited, socially outcast teen tearing up the streets on his Harley-Davidson with Led Zeppelin and AC/DC blasting in his headphones... now imagine him in a garage riffing away with four of his friends and you'll understand where the heart of Three Quarter Stone's sound beats. But these misfits have managed to evolve out of the garage, surviving employment woe's, relationship chaos, and all of life's adventurous ups and downs, sticking together and becoming a polished, substantial hard rocking riff machine. Their live show attests to the years spent together and countless gigs in drunken bars. They look at home up on the stage, with a tight sound that comes from years of gigging. And that sound is forceful... an entity unto its own with grooving, hooky guitar riffs and soaring, melodic vocals. Its polished and definitely not garage band, but not glittery 'record-label' polished, but like that of a river bed stone weathered by nature over time. Their sound is solid, driving and well produced, with interesting nuances and layers. Its almost difficult to imagine a careless teenager on a Harley creating such great music, but one can certainly picture him blasting it in his headphones as he cruises down the road!

Bullet With A Name is the second studio album for Three Quarter Stone and it delivers right out of the gate with the hard driving title track followed by the heavy groove of 'It Don't Matter'. This album delivers on all fronts sonically, and sounds 'Big Studio' with meticulous attention to production and mastering. The bands sound has expanded to take on some acoustic songs and allows us to see more of the range and dynamics of the vocals. Its also clear that the bands songwriting is growing in terms of lyrics and subject matter as well, whether it be the cheeky 'Out Of The Blue' with its comical finale, or taking on environmental issues in 'Believe'. There's still plenty of partying and sexual innuendo on many of the tracks, but tracks like 'I Don't Need' are lyrically downright moving and shows us this band has taken themselves to another level, poised to compete with any of today's biggest names when that opportunity arrises. Bullet With A Name is simply a pleasure to listen to front to back, loud or soft, and this album manages to escape the monotony that so many so many other albums suffer, by including acoustic tracks with electric, uptempo with moody soulful tracks, and each delivering a memorable melody.

Movies, TV and Star Watching with Mel Peters

Crank 2 High Voltage

Chev Chelios (Jason Statham-right photo) is back from the dead with an artificial heart. Chasing after his old one and trying to salvage other organs, his new ticker keeps running out of juice. Styled this time more like a video game or comic book, the flick is action packed with more of a comedic twist than its predecessor. Jason is too hot, and sparks are flying all around him and his beautiful girlfriend, Eve (Amy Smart)...if you loved the first one, you will love the sequel too.

I Love You, Man

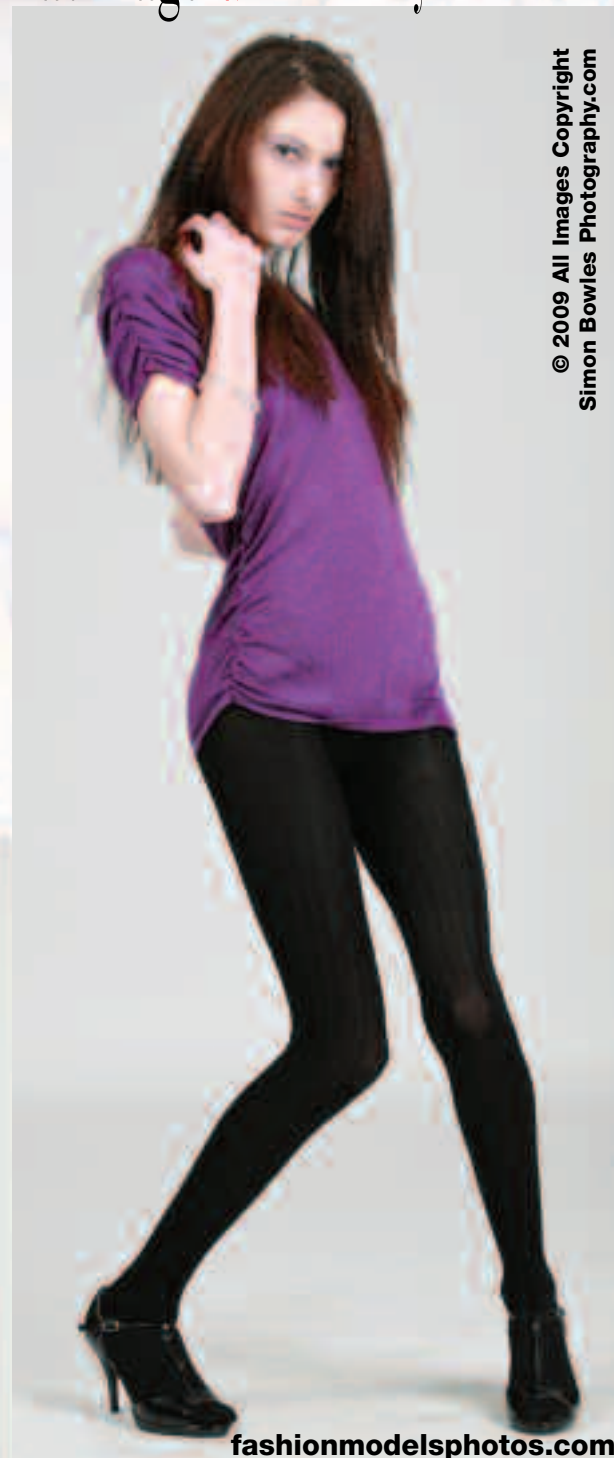

Hanging with the boys never concerned Peter Klaven (Paul Rudd) until he was short a best-man for a wedding. After a series of failed 'man-dates', Sydney (Jason Segel) gives him the adolescence he missed out on, but it might mean losing his bride-to-be (Rashida Jones). The two actors have great chemistry, and they carry the movie with their comedy. It has its moments and is definitely worth checking out.

Confessions of a Shopaholic

Drowning in debt, fashion-obsessed Rebecca Bloomwood (Isla Fisher) struggles to support her addiction, and ends up bringing a fresh form of humanity to a New York financial magazine with her unconventional twist on economics. Striving to impress a top fashion editor, she catches the eye of her charming boss instead (played by Hugh Dancy). Heart-warming and reasonably entertaining, this movie is about finding hope and love in the last place you would ever look.

St. Mary's Secondary

14 Division Community Fun Day From 10am - 6pm

ESP (Empowered Student Partnerships) is the largest youth directed school safety program in Canada. It is run in partnership with all 4 school boards, the city of Toronto, Canadian Safe School Network and The Toronto Police Service. The idea is that youth themselves know best what the safety issues are that face their schools and community so they also will have some of the best ideas around addressing those same concerns.

Each Toronto Police Division has officers assigned to work with the schools. We are part of 14 Division where there are 2 teams of 7 officers. There are 9 Secondary Schools, 4 Alternate schools and 53 Elementary Schools. Each Secondary School has an ESP team.

This year my ESP team approached the Superintendent of 14 Division (Ruth White) for permission to run a Community Day that would highlight some of the businesses, charities, services and agencies who work with or in 14 Division. Most importantly this day will highlight the positive relationship that exists between the youth and the officers of our Division as well as the work being done between cops and kids in our schools. All schools have been invited to participate and every student in 14 Division will be given a ticket for family admission.

There are over 60 associations who will be represented so far. As well there are well over 30 musical and dance acts expected to be performing.

Toronto Police will be conducting demonstrations throughout the day. We will be having a VIP ceremony at 11 am.

Boston Pizza and Long & McQuade have joined us as sponsors. Starbucks will also be participating. Fort York has offered the use of their property for the day. There will be music, demos, competitions, sports, singing, games and activities. The students themselves have done their own fundraising so the event will be free to members of the community.

The event will be taking place Sunday June 7 at Fort York between 10am and 5pm. It should be an exciting day. We are anticipating a huge turnout.
